A joint RCMP and WPS investigation underway at a Winnipeg home has the family of a slain B.C. woman hopeful her death will lead to peace for others.

"It will give us comfort that (she) did not die in vain," said Jennifer McPherson's sister, Kim, Thursday on Facebook, under a link to a story about the homicide and its speculated Winnipeg connection.

"We hope that it will bring comfort and justice to other (families) of cold case(s) in Manitoba."

Jennifer, 41, was reported missing last week and later found dead on Hanson Island, B.C., where she had lived for several years with her husband, Traigo Ehkid Andretti. RCMP charged Andretti, 37, with second-degree murder in connection to her death.

Sources tell Metro that Jennifer and Andretti previously lived at the rooming house at 97 Lorne Ave., where the WPS Forensic Identification Unit and RCMP have been investigating since Tuesday.

Manitoba RCMP spokesperson Cpl. Miles Hiebert would only say the search is part of an ongoing Project Devote investigation connected to a crime in Manitoba.

"We have to go where the evidence leads us," he said.

Project Devote probes cold cases of missing and murdered women.

A neighbour said he heard what sounded like a jackhammer while officers were in the home Wednesday, but police wouldn't confirm they are digging in the house.

Liberal. Exec pleads guilty to falsifying signatures

A former executive director with the Manitoba Liberal Party pleaded guilty Thursday to falsifying signatures on nomination papers during the 2011 provincial election campaign.

Dennis Trochim, his voice at times cracking with emotion, told provincial court he was under intense stress when he faked signatures of support for Liberal candidates in the constituencies of Dauphin and Swan River.

"I was physically exhausted ... working 18-hour days," Trochim said. "I just started signing things without even realizing why I did it."

Trochim pleaded guilty to one count of knowingly providing false or misleading information under the provincial Elections Act. Seven other charges were stayed.

Provincial court Judge Tim Killeen fined Trochim $3,500.

As one of a small number of workers for the Liberal party, which has just one legislature seat, Trochim was the official agent for 12 candidates in 2011.

Hours before he forged the signatures, he received a phone call from his father, asking him to come visit. Trochim told the court he said no because he was too busy with the election.

Evan Roitenberg, the prosecutor acting on behalf of the provincial elections commissioner, said he sympathized with Trochim's personal troubles. But Roitenberg pointed out Trochim denied any wrongdoing when first confronted and tried to lay the blame on someone else.

Amendment. Updated laws on seatbelts tabled

In the name of safety, Manitoba will be the next jurisdiction to ban riding in the back of a pickup truck.

An amendment to the Highway Traffic Act was introduced Thursday that would see all passengers required to sit in areas of a car designed only for sitting and using the appropriate seatbelts.

Currently, there is nothing in the Manitoba Highway Traffic Act that prevents this, so long as all seatbelts are otherwise occupied.

The new rules will also restrict the number of people in a car to the number of seatbelts in a car, and people in wheelchairs will also need to be secured in a seatbelt, said transportation minister Steve Ashton.

Manitoba recently introduced a bylaw on helmet safety, requiring all kids to ride with a bicycle helmet as of May 1 or face a $50 fine.

Spike. Collisions rose 7.8% in Manitoba last year

Manitoba Public Insurance is stressing the importance of Canada Road Safety Week in the Keystone province after their data shows the rates of collisions on Manitoba roads spiked last year.

The insurer said Thursday the province saw a 7.8 per cent increase in collision claims last year, and the awareness week — which runs May 13 to 20 — is a great chance for Manitobans to change their driving behaviour.

"There were 161,466 collision claims reported last year compared to 149,764 in 2011," said MaryAnn Kempe, MPI's vice-president of community and corporate relations in a release. "Many of these collisions were directly related to drinking and driving, speeding, aggressive driving and distracted driving — all behaviours which can be easily changed."

Kempe said about 100 drivers are killed on Manitoba roads every year. METRO

Mosquitoes on the horizon

Who you gonna call? Bugbusters. The bloodsuckers have not been an issue so far, but the city has an arsenal of bug-fighting methods at the ready if needed

shane.gibson@metronews.ca

The city has kicked off its annual bug battle and Winnipeg's head mosquito squisher says the slow spring melt and dry conditions have been perfect for keeping us skeeter free so far.

"In my mind this type of spring is the best kind of spring," city entomologist Taz Stewart told media Thursday at the launch of this year's war on bugs. "It's a very, very slow melt. Sites are still very cold so the larva that are in those water pools are developing very, very slowly."

The city started its larviciding program in mid-April, and, like past years, Stewart said the program uses 60 per cent biological and 40 per cent chemical larvicide. The biological larvicide is used within the city and at environmentally sensitive sites around Winnipeg, while the chemical larvicide is used on larger areas outside the Perimeter Highway.

The favourable weather conditions so far have left counts at traps monitoring for adult nuisance mosquitoes reading Stewart's "favourite number" — zero — when checked for the first time last week.

Stewart expects the city to see its first batches of pesky adult mosquitoes take flight by the beginning of June, but he said heavy rains could change that forecast overnight.

If the numbers get bad enough this summer Stewart said the city will get to test a new biological fog called Pyrocid, which is made from flowers.

If the new fog proves as effective as Malathion, Stewart said his branch might switch completely in the future.

Entomologist Taz Stewart stands next to one of four larviciding helicopters used primarily on large areas of water outside the city. SHANE GIBSON/METRO

Mya. Winnipeg police canine delivers healthy litter of 11 pups

The Winnipeg Police Service has some furry friends to welcome into its ranks.

In a press release, police said on Wednesday their service dog Mya gave birth to a healthy litter of 11 puppies after 12 hours in labour.

Mya, and her police service dog partner Judge, who are both Belgian Malinois, are the proud parents on seven females and four males.

Police said the mom and her pups are doing well and this is the first litter for the couple in almost two years.

Police are likely going to keep four of the puppies, who will be raised by their canine quarries in the puppy rearing program.

Ahhh, PETA. Giant, talking condoms coming to downtown Winnipeg

People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) is donning latex Friday to remind Winnipeggers about the importance of spaying and neutering cats and dogs.

Two PETA members dressed as giant condoms — one pink and one blue — will stand at the corner of Portage Avenue and Edmonton Street over the lunch hour with signs that read: "Condoms Won't Work: Fix Your Dog/Cat!"

"If cats and dogs could wear condoms, tens of thousands of animals would be spared suffering and death," explained PETA campaigner Emily Lavender of the stunt in a release.

"But they can't — so it's up to their guardians to take responsibility for spaying and neutering them."

The man-sized prophylactics will also be handing out leaflets about animal birth control.

PETA said spaying one female dog can prevent 67,000 births over six years, and spaying one female cat can prevent 370,000 births in seven years.

According to PETA, in 2011, shelters took in more than 200,000 animals across Canada, and of those, more than 70,000 ended up having to be euthanized.

Premier cleared of breaking election law

He shoots, he misses.

Liberal leader Jon Gerrard not happy with outcome

Manitoba Premier Greg Selinger has been cleared of any wrongdoing in an election campaign promise involving the Winnipeg Jets.

A report from Commissioner of Elections Bill Bowles, obtained by The Canadian Press on Wednesday, rejects a complaint from the Liberal Party that Selinger broke the law by making a government announcement in the middle of a campaign.

"It appears ... the After School Matters program was nothing more than a campaign promise. It was not a program or activity of a government department," Bowles wrote.

"Even if this were a government program, there was no publication or advertisement by a government department ... no government employees or other resources were used."

Selinger found himself on the defensive on Sept 16, 2011, when he announced an after-school program for inner-city youth in conjunction with the Jets' charitable foundation.

The Liberals complained that the announcement violated Section 56 (1) of the Elections Finances Act, which says no government "shall publish or advertise any information about its programs or activities in the last 90 days before polling day, and on polling day" except in the case of an emergency such as a flood or forest fire.

Bowles ruled that because the press release and news conference were done with NDP staff and volunteers — not government workers — there was no violation.

Liberal Leader Jon Gerrard was not pleased.

"I'm disappointed in the result, but I think at this point, we have to accept it," he said.

"Hopefully, governments in the future will be very careful about this so they are clearly making promises and not talking about programs."

Selinger, meanwhile, was happy.

"We're just pleased that we've been cleared so we can get on with this program and ... create a lot of opportunities for young children and youth."

 Litter index indicates warm weather delay has contributed to city in need of some grooming

BERNICE PONTANILLA

Take Pride Winnipeg hopes citizens will roll up their sleeves.

The late start to the cleanup season has left many streets littered and in need of sprucing up, according to the findings of the 2013 Take Pride Winnipeg litter index.

The annual index, which divides the city into 12 areas, delivered an average score for the city of 2.23 in April, with one being no litter and four representing extremely littered.

"Because of spring's late arrival, volunteer cleanup crews haven't been out in full force yet," said Tom Ethans, executive director, Take Pride Winnipeg in a press release.

"There are a lot of littered streets, and we need all Winnipeggers to do their part in cleaning them up."

The neighbourhood with the highest average, 2.85, is northwest Winnipeg, with Oak Point Highway, McPhillips Street from the Perimeter to Jefferson Avenue, and Burrows Avenue from King Edward and McPhillips, identified among the worst.

Take Pride has a campaign, called Tim Hortons Team Up to Clean Up, that provides free garbage bags to any community group, family, business or school that would like to join.

As of Thursday, Take Pride said over 20,000 have registered, and they expect that number to grow to 40,000.

Skydiggers in town to mark 25th

Saturday show. Band's guitarist looks back on humble beginnings after a quarter-century

JARED STORY

winnipeg@metronews.ca

In celebration of their 25th anniversary, Toronto roots rock band Skydiggers recently released All of Our Dreaming: Skydiggers Live 1988, 2000 and 2012.

The triple-disc package consists of a 2012 Skydiggers performance at Glenn Gould Studio, a reissue of the 2000 live album There and Back and a previously unreleased set of tracks recorded in 1988 at Toronto's Spadina Hotel.

Skydiggers guitarist Josh Finlayson says the Spadina Hotel album was chosen because the beverage room was essentially the birthplace of the band.

When Toronto singer-songwriter Andrew Cash gave up his Monday night Acoustic Meltdown series after the release of his debut album, Skydiggers took over the residency.

"We did this weekly gig for about six months and it really helped us develop a sound and a rapport with ourselves and with an audience," Finlayson said. His Skydiggers bandmates include fellow founding members Andy Maize and Ron Macey, as well as Michael Johnston, Noel Webb and Jessy Bell Smith.

"Listening back to it, I can't believe how f—ing fast we played, and especially how fast I was playing. It's just ferociously fast."

In addition to All of Our Dreaming, Skydiggers is releasing three more 25th anniversary albums for this year.

In July, the band will release a covers album of its favourite Canadian songwriters, including Linda McRae and Gordon Lightfoot.

Next is a fall release of Skydiggers classics performed alongside some of the band's favourite female vocalists.

In the winter, Skydiggers will release an album of seasonal music, including its folk rock version of Good King Wenceslas and John Prine's Christmas in Prison.

The band play the West End Cultural Centre on Saturday. Tickets are $25 at the WECC, Music Trader, Winnipeg Folk Festival Music Store and Ticketmaster, or $30 at the door. Showtime is 8 p.m.

Winnipeg DJ needs your support

A local DJ more accustomed to moving bodies at Winnipeg clubs is on a campaign to move bodies online to help him make the cut in a cross-country DJ competition.

John Skene — better known as DJ Hollywood Hype — is among 14 DJs from across Canada vying for votes to not only win a VIP entry package for Bud Light presents Sensation, but also earn the chance to mix the Toronto electronic dance festival's official remix and play at the event's official pre-party.

"Sensation is at the Rogers Centre so it's a really huge show," explained the 26-year-old DJ of the June 1 festival.

Skene's entry for the contest — an original track called He Is — can be found online, and he needs Winnipeggers to check out his song and vote for him to win at budlight.ca.

"People can vote once a day, and once they vote they get entered to win tickets for themselves, too," he said, noting the song is an unreleased track from an EP he's shopping around to record labels.

Fans of Winnipeg nightlife will know Skene from his busy weekend schedule spinning at Alive in the District on Fridays, Stereo Nightclub Saturdays, and at Opera Ultralounge on Sundays.

Children of victims launch civil suits

The children of four missing women whose remains were found on serial killer Robert Pickton's farm have launched legal action looking for compensation.

The daughters and sons of Dianne Rock, Sarah de Vries, Cynthia Feliks and Yvonne Boen have filed separate lawsuits in B.C. Supreme Court, targeting the provincial government, the City of Vancouver, Robert Pickton and his brother Dave and their sister Linda.

The statements of claim allege numerous failures on the part of Vancouver police, RCMP and Crown prosecutors, including that police didn't warn women in the Downtown Eastside that a serial killer may have been targeting women in the area.

The lawsuits also complain about the way the police informed the women's families about the Pickton connection.

Gangsterism and chaos. Did Laval mayor take an offer he couldn't refuse?

A corruption-related storm ripped through the Montreal area Thursday, wreaking devastation on once-sturdy political machines inside and outside the city.

The party that won Montreal's last municipal election was dissolved. And in the big suburb next door, the mayor who dominated the last six elections was slapped with gangsterism charges.

It all occurred in just over an hour.

The succession of events underscored how the political order in Montreal has been overturned during a corruption inquiry, which is just now shifting its focus toward provincial politics.

The last-standing rump of the Union Montreal party, which won the first three elections in the newly merged mega-city since 2001, announced it would give up trying to rehabilitate itself and would disband.

A few kilometres north, in suburban Laval, Gilles Vaillancourt was among 37 people facing a long list of charges.

Experimental Lakes research given new life

Fed deal. Show will go on at Canadian science hub that had funding slashed by Tories

Forty-four years of continuous freshwater research at the world-renowned Experimental Lakes Area in northwestern Ontario will not be interrupted this summer after all.

The federal government has agreed to permit continuing data collection this season as it wraps up negotiations with a Winnipeg-based non-governmental research institute to take over management of the remote 58-lake facility.

Finance Minister Jim Flaherty killed the $2-million annual stipend for the ELA in last year's Conservative budget, and even fully funded researchers were being told as recently as last month that no work would be allowed to take place there this year.

The facility — not well known outside scientific circles — had become a political embarrassment for the government, a lightning rod for critics who say the spendthrift Conservatives are hacking away at environmental science while spending huge amounts on advertising and communications.

Fisheries Minister Keith Ashfield announced Thursday he's signed a memorandum of understanding with the International Institute for Sustainable Development, "an internationally renowned public policy research institute."

Ontario Premier Kathleen Wynne has already said the province will help with operating costs, the province of Manitoba is also part of negotiations and others are being sought.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Why the ELA matters

- Founded in 1968 under the long-defunct Fisheries Research Board of Canada, the ELA is credited with critical work on mercury pollution, acid rain, climate change, phosphate pollutants, algae blooms and more.
- New research on silver nanoparticles, commonly used in clothing, was interrupted this spring by the 2012 federal funding cut.

A former Canadian resident charged with terrorism offences in the U.S. allegedly radicalized a Montreal man accused of plotting to attack a VIA Rail train, U.S. authorities said Thursday.

Tunisian Ahmed Abassi was charged with fraudulently applying for a visa in order to remain in the U.S. to facilitate an "act of international terrorism."

WHAT IS THIS CASE ABOUT?

The lawsuit claims that New Balance made certain misrepresentations regarding the benefits of wearing its Toning Shoes in its marketing and sales. New Balance denies it did anything wrong. The Court did not decide which side was right. Instead, the parties have decided to settle.

WHAT DOES THIS SETTLEMENT PROVIDE?

A maximum Settlement Cap of not more than $155,000 is intended to pay claims to eligible Class Members and the costs of the settlement notice. New Balance is also agreeing to refrain from certain practices and to separately pay attorneys' fees, an award to the Representative Plaintiff and the costs of settlement administration. Full details about the Settlement are on the website www.clg.org.

WHAT TYPE OF COMPENSATION CAN YOU RECEIVE?

New Balance will provide to each individual Class Member that qualifies for Compensation the following:

- For a single pair of Toning Shoes: an amount of $100, without the necessity of proof of purchase.
- For two or more pairs of Toning Shoes: a maximum amount of $200, with proof of purchase required for at least one of the pairs of Toning Shoes.

For each Claimant who submits a valid Claim, New Balance shall provide payment as described above, so long as providing such Compensation does not exceed the Settlement Cap. If providing each Claimant with such Compensation will exceed the Settlement Cap, then in such circumstances each Claimant's Compensation shall be reduced on a pro rata basis.

HOW DO YOU ASK FOR A PAYMENT?

To get money, eligible Class Members must submit a claim form by mail postmarked no later than November 14, 2013. Payments could be up to $100 for each pair of Toning Shoes purchased, up to a maximum of $200 for multiple pairs of Toning Shoes, but will vary depending upon the number of Claims submitted by all Class Members and the costs of settlement notice, as specified more fully in the Settlement Agreement.

WHAT ARE YOUR OPTIONS?

If you are a Class Member, you may (1) do nothing; (2) exclude yourself; (3) send in a Claim Form; and/or (4) object to the settlement. If you don't want to be bound by the settlement, you must exclude yourself. However, if you exclude yourself, you can't get a payment, but you can sue New Balance for these claims. If you stay in the Class, you may submit a Claim Form and/or object to the settlement.

WHAT ARE THE IMPORTANT DATES AND DEADLINES?

A motion to approve the Settlement will be heard by the Superior Court of Quebec, 1 Notre Dame Street East, Montréal, Quebec on June 21, 2013 at 8:40 a.m. in room 2.08.

If the proposed Settlement is approved, it will be binding on all Class Members except those who timely and properly opt out.

If you wish to opt out, you must no later than August 19, 2013: i) complete and submit by mail the Opt Out Form; ii) the Opt Out Form is available on Class Counsel's website at www.clg.org. Class Members who want to opt out and who are residents of Quebec must IN ADDITION give notice to the Clerk of the Superior Court of Quebec.

If you wish to object to the proposed settlement, you must send a written notice of objection to Class Counsel and Defence Counsel by no later than June 11, 2013. Your written objection should include: (a) your name, address, e-mail address and telephone number; (b) a brief statement of the reasons for your objection; and (c) whether you plan to attend at the hearing in person or through a lawyer, and if by lawyer, the name, address, e-mail address and telephone number of the lawyer. Class Members who do not oppose the proposed settlement need not appear at the settlement approval hearing or take any other action at this time.

WHEN SHOULD I MAKE A CLAIM?

The Claim Form is available on Class Counsel's website at www.clg.org. A Claim Form must be postmarked no later than November 14, 2013. The Claim form must be sent by mail to: New Balance Settlement Canada c/o Borden Ladner Gervais LLP, attention Marie Gamelin at 1000, de la Gauchetière Street West, Suite 900, Montreal, Quebec, H3B 5H4. There will be no further notice in the newspapers of this Settlement Agreement.

WHEN DO I GET PAID?

Cheques will only begin to be mailed to eligible Class Members for Compensation at the earliest starting on November 26, 2013, assuming that the Settlement is approved and that such judgment has become final.

HOW CAN YOU GET MORE INFORMATION?

A complete copy of the Settlement Agreement and detailed information on how to obtain or file a Claim are available on Class Counsel's website at www.clg.org. To obtain a paper copy or for other information, please call Class Counsel at the numbers below.

Memorial. Cemetery denies request from rapper's family to inscribe headstone with profanity-laced lyrics

More problems

The commission's dispute with Santiago's family is not over. The family added a three-foot by eight-foot decoration made from mulch and rocks on his gravesite shaped like the number "1." Uno was his performance name. The family has been asked to remove the decoration because it does not conform to cemetery rules. "It's not fair," said Santiago's mother, Ana DeJesus.

Commissioners at a Massachusetts cemetery have said no to profanity on headstones.

Sonny Santiago, 23, was a rapper who died in a car crash in February. Commissioners at Pine Grove Cemetery in Lynn this week unanimously rejected his family's request to inscribe his gravestone with a song verse that included profanity.

The commission became aware of the language when the company inscribing the three-foot-tall memorial submitted drawings to commissioners.

Pine Grove Cemetery regulations posted online state that "the cemetery office must approve all inscription work on monuments."

"We've never had a problem like this before," commission Chairman Arthur Dulong told The Daily Item of Lynn.

City officials contacted the family about the inscription and they agreed to have the gravestone inscribed with a different, profanity-free verse.

War on drugs. Brazil introduces new rehab funding for crack users

Brazil's most populous and wealthiest state expanded its attack on crack cocaine abuse on Thursday by unveiling a program that will provide about $650 a month in subsidies for the rehabilitation of addicts at private treatment centres.

In announcing the program, Sao Paulo State Governor Geraldo Alckmin said the money will be earmarked monthly for each crack user aged 18 or older who voluntarily enrolls in a rehabilitation program that is expected to get under way in two months, in 11 cities.

The state will give the money to accredited rehabilitation centres when clients present a Begin Again card they receive after enrolling in a program. The cards are valid for six months, the time considered necessary for rehabilitation.

Alckmin said that each of the 11 cities in the program will decide the criteria that determine if drug users are eligible. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Magic mushrooms give some depression sufferers high hopes

Potential. Research shows that their active ingredient dampens part of the brain which is overactive in depressed people

KIERON MONKS

Metro World News

Desperate for a fix, David Nutt considered buying magic mushrooms from the street. Restrictions on the drug were making it impossible to conduct clinical trials, and Nutt had no way to secure the mushrooms that are widely available from illegal dealers.

"Fortunately the publicity helped; we are optimistic about the licence and supply now," Nutt, head of neuropsychopharmacology at Im-

A treatment 'prospector'

"I'm not saying we will revolutionize depression treatment, but there is a group for whom it will be useful."

U.K. Professor David Nutt

perial College London in the U.K. told Metro.

No stranger to controversy — Nutt was fired as government adviser for claiming ecstasy is as safe as horse riding — he is set to push the boundaries with the first trial of magic mushrooms to treat depression.

Research has shown that psilocybin, the active ingredient in mushrooms, dampens the brain's anterior cingulate cortex, which is overactive in depression sufferers. Trials will target the most severe cases. "The hypothesis is lasting benefits for people who have not responded to interventions," says Nutt. If the treatment seems radical, the professor argues it is proportionate. "Depression is the largest cause of disability in Europe, and only two-thirds of people get well. The rest are out of work and can't cope — we have to try everything."

But despite a rigorous attachment to evidence, Nutt admits he is fighting a crusade and wants to "tap into a reservoir" of hard drugs in clinical practice. "It's a campaign for the liberation of science — drug laws have censored research in this field for 60 years. I think it's the worst censorship since the Catholic Church stopped Galileo using his telescope."

Psilocybin and other mind-altering drugs are becoming popular solutions to a broad spectrum of mental health issues. A 2012 study found that ecstasy chemical MDMA had a lasting impact on post-traumatic stress disorder. Norwegian academics recently found that LSD improved misuse rates in 59 per cent of alcoholics.

"LSD seems to help people see their problems in a different light, to give new insights into their problems ... and to make a strong resolution to discontinue their drinking," said psychologist Pål Johansen.

T.O. man charged with kidnapping, sex assault

A man is facing 10 charges, including kidnapping, robbery and sexual assault, after police say a 61-year-old woman was car-jacked while sitting in front of a Toronto coffee shop. Police say the incident happened early Wednesday morning. It's alleged the man demanded money and credit cards from the woman, then ordered her to drive to a secluded area where he sexually assaulted her. Seven charges.

Women gave no indication other brothers were involved: Police chief

The man accused of raping and kidnapping three women, who were missing for about a decade before being found alive at his home, was ordered held Thursday on $8 million bail.

Ariel Castro looked down at the ground for almost the entire arraignment hearing. He didn't speak.

The women found alive after a decade in captivity endured lonely, dark lives inside a dingy home where they were raped and allowed outside only a handful of times in disguises while walking to a garage steps away, investigators say. One of their young daughters was also freed from the house.

The 52-year-old former school bus driver has emerged as the lone suspect.

Daughter's tearful apology

Castro's daughter, Arlene Castro, appeared on Good Morning America on Thursday. She tearfully described being embarrassed and devastated upon learning of her father's suspected role in her good friend Gina DeJesus' kidnapping

- Arlene was walking home from school with DeJesus in April 2004 just before she disappeared. "I would like to say I'm absolutely so, so sorry," she said. "I really want to see you Gina and I want you to meet my kids. I'm so sorry about everything."

Assistant county prosecutor Brian Murphy said the women were beaten repeatedly and sexually assaulted. He said Castro used the women "in whatever self-gratifying, self-serving way he saw fit."

Singer behaved strangely before wife's death: Divorce papers

The lead singer of heavy metal band As I Lay Dying, who is charged with plotting to kill his estranged wife, had recently become obsessed with bodybuilding and had started acting dangerously distracted around his children, his wife said in divorce papers.

Tim Lambesis was charged late Wednesday with one felony count of solicitation of murder, San Diego County district attorney spokeswoman Tanya Sierra said. He was scheduled to be arraigned Thursday afternoon.

Lambesis' estranged wife, Meggan Lambesis, said in the court papers obtained by The Associated Press that her husband had fallen asleep while caring for the couple's three children near a pool and had begun spending endless hours at a gym.

Meggan Lambesis didn't express any concern in the documents for her own safety, however.

Police say her husband tried to hire a hitman to kill her, but the person he approached was actually an undercover detective taking part in a sting operation set up following a tip to law enforcement last week.

The 32-year-old frontman of the Grammy-nominated band was taken into custody Tuesday.

Epic hack. Cyber-gang stole $45M, U.S. authorities say

A gang of cyber-criminals stole $45 million US in a matter of hours by hacking their way into a database of prepaid debit cards and then draining cash machines around the globe, U.S. federal prosecutors said Thursday.

Brooklyn U.S. Attorney Loretta Lynch called it "a massive 21st-century bank heist" and compared it to the Lufthansa heist in the late

Disney kills Day of the Dead trademark request

Patently ridiculous.

The Mouse backs down after Latino activists mock its attempt to appropriate cultural holiday for film

The interior of Masks y Mas, an Albuquerque, N.M., shop that sells Day of the Dead art year round. Disney has said it will withdraw a Día de los Muertos trademark request amid uproar on social media from Latino activists, writers and artists. Critics said the request was insensitive, and put thousands of businesses making products linked to the day at risk. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Lalo Alcaraz learned this week that Disney was seeking to trademark Día de los Muertos, the name of the traditional Day of the Dead celebrated by millions in Mexico and the U.S., the cartoonist had an idea.

The trademark was for an animated movie by Disney and Pixar Animation Studios Inc. that is inspired by the holiday.

The Los Angeles-based humorist created a movie poster that quickly went viral of a skeletal Godzilla-sized Mickey Mouse, with the words: "It's coming to trademark your cultura (culture)."

Anger and ridicule expressed on social media largely by Latinos began circulating. On Tuesday, Disney said it was no longer seeking a Día de los Muertos trademark request because the film's name will change before its release.

"Disney's trademark filing was intended to protect any potential title for our film and related activities," a company statement said. "It has since been determined that the title of the film will change."

Disney has not said that social media responses were responsible for the withdrawn trademark request. The company did not immediately return a phone call from The Associated Press.

Whatever the reason, the episode showed how quickly reactions to even the smallest corporate move can spread online and lead to calls for boycotts.

"It was not social media that started this. It was Disney that started this," said Tom Garrity, head of the Garrity Group, a public-relations firm that advises companies on social media practices.

"Social media only highlighted the deficiencies in Disney's planning and what people saw as cultural insensitivity." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOST BEAUTIFUL LIST IS COMPLICATED

And now from Metro News Central, here's the weekly list of things that make you go ... hmmm?

1 Bye-bye beautiful. Hello! Magazine Canada is out with its list of 50 Most Beautiful Canadians and a face only Chad Kroeger could love is on the cover. Besides Avril Lavigne, other beauties include Justin Bieber and the Ryans, Reynolds and Gosling. Of course, none of these people actually live in Canada.

2 Came from away. Some people actually want to live in Canada. Quite a lot of people, actually. According to the latest census results, released this week, 6.8 million Canadian residents came from someplace else.

Boy and former Italian prime minister Silvio Berlusconi had his four-year sentence for tax evasion upheld; and Hans Lipschis, a guard at Auschwitz from 1941-45, was arrested in Germany this week. Lipschis is 93 years old. Karma is not always instant.

4 The world is not a safer place this week. If you've got a commercial 3D printer, 60 bucks worth of plastic and Wi-Fi, you can print your own arsenal. A University of Texas law student is the first to print up a working .38-calibre handgun. He won't be the last.

5 The world is not a safer place, especially if you're a chicken. Some kid at the College of Art and Design in Calgary slaughtered a chicken in the school cafeteria recently in an act of "performance art." The kid's instructor was fired, presumably, for not being able to tell the difference between art and life. Some of his students are protesting his dismissal.

The chicken was not consulted.

6 Speaking of life and art. One of the most popular baby names for girls in 2012 was "Arya," after Arya Stark, a feisty girl character in the fantasy epic Game of Thrones series that has captivated the nerdverse. Jacob and Sophia were the most popular baby names in 2012. That's AD, not BC, although they were probably pretty hot back then, too.

7 Hockey Night in Canada continues. Sadly, not for the Vancouver Canucks, who were swallowed whole by the San Jose Sharks in four straight games. As this is written, the Montreal Canadiens, the Ottawa Senators and even the Toronto Maple Leafs are still in the quest for Lord Stanley's Cup. Well, at least Vancouver still has Lord Stanley's Park, which this week was declared the No. 2 most beautiful city park in the world by Travel + Leisure magazine. No. 1 is Park Güell, designed by the weird and wonderful Antoni Gaudí, in Barcelona. And isn't this where we came in?

Synopsis

Set in the Jazz Age — early 1920s in New York. Nick Carraway (Tobey Maguire) is working as a stockbroker in the city while living in a wealthy suburban enclave. His neighbour is the enigmatic Jay Gatsby (Leonardo Di Caprio), whose ornate mansion plays host to wild weekend parties. Turns out he isn't the aristocrat he claims to be, but the son of dirt-poor farmers who made a fortune as a bootlegger. Nick soon learns his cousin Daisy (Carey Mulligan) was Gatsby's first love. Gatsby and Daisy try to pick up where they left off, but Gatsby proves unable to control the future as adeptly as he created his past.

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Pushing up Daisy

The Great Gatsby. There's plenty of eye candy here, but the real razzle-dazzle is in Carey Mulligan's portrayal of Daisy

Richard: Mark, Baz Luhrmann may be the perfect person to retell Jay Gatsby's Roaring Twenties' story. Equally at home with razzle-dazzle and substance, he captures the tone of the Jazz Age while still allowing the story's deeper resonance to shine through the gloss. It's eye candy, pure and simple, and yet the sense of doom that hangs over the beautiful and damned characters in the story is palpable. Without it this would be just another story about pretty people doing pretty-people things.

Mark: Richard, I approached this movie with some trepidation. Luhrmann is such an overwhelming director, and Fitzgerald's book can be as delicate as chiffon. And for the first half hour, it seemed that the story would be swallowed up in crazed, hallucinogenic fantasies of swirling 3D visuals, not that there's anything wrong with that. It's amazing to watch. But then the movie settled down and captured the beautiful and tragic romance between Gatsby and Daisy, and became profoundly moving. The actors all play their parts well, but I have to say the film belongs to Carey Mulligan. You, Richard?

RC: Absolutely. Daisy is one of Fitzgerald's "bright precious things," a hothouse flower and Mulligan has a face capable of simultaneously showing great happiness and profound sadness, a duality that serves her character well. She effortlessly tosses off shallow lines like, "Your life is adorable," while digging deep to convey Daisy's conflicted nature.

MB: She's exactly as I imagined her when I first read the novel over 40 years ago. I wasn't as sure about DiCaprio at first, but he grew on me. I loved the way Luhrmann took vintage movies of New York in the '20s and colorized them, and then converted them to 3D. There's a scene that takes place on a rooftop patio overlooking Times Square that completely changed the way I imagined Manhattan of the past. But what did you think of the anachronistic score? Did you have an issue with it?

RC: It's probably my least favourite part of the film. I get what Luhrmann was trying to do, but here, unlike Moulin Rouge! it doesn't really work. The Jazz Age Amy Winehouse song is OK, but the Jay-Z tune feels more like an attempt to sell soundtracks than serve the story.

MB: The film is soooooo superior to the 1974 Robert Redford/Mia Farrow version that I will forgive him almost anything. People will come for the visuals, but they'll leave touched by the story. And the clothes.

Daddy's going to hang today

Q&A. Simon Pegg, returning in Star Trek Into Darkness, tells us what his three-year-old daughter thinks he does all day

MCGUINNESS
scene@metronews.ca

People who get Star Wars and Star Trek confused — does that infuriate you? You can't expect everyone to know. It's like when you follow a certain religion and you think everyone celebrates Christmas. They don't! On to Star Trek Into Darkness. The scene where the spaceship is going all over the place and you and Chris Pine are jumping around and hanging off railings. Is that look on your face genuine terror?

It was more pain. I had to hang from Chris' hand and the harness could only go from my one hip so I was slightly skewed. But no, it was all acting. My three-year-old daughter was on set that day and she assumed that's what my job was. Hanging. She was like, 'Are you going to hang today daddy?' Scotty doesn't manage to hold on to the bar and is saved by a much stronger Captain Kirk. Ever been like, man, I really wish I had Chris' body?

You should feel his arms. They're like oak. We'd go to the gym together and it was amazing how the female contingent would start gravitating towards him. Nobody paid me any attention. But no, I was pretty buff at the time! You guys should have had that chalk you wear in gym class to stop your hands from slipping. It's not that easy to get on a falling starship... You and Nick Frost have appeared in Shaun of the Dead, Hot Fuzz and other films together. If you could, what part would you give him in Star Trek? I'd love him to play Harry Mudd from the original '66 series. But I wouldn't necessarily want him to be in it and I don't think he would want to either. It's not like we have to come as a package. You don't have a love interest in this movie.

What about my little guy? That's my love interest. The little fellow. We're a unit. We're married.

Your little alien assistant? But you don't even get to kiss it. I don't kiss it.

But if you could, who would you share a kiss with, Alice Eve or Zoe Saldana?

That's not a choice any man could make. They're both as gorgeous as each other. They come in and everyone is just like WOW.

Your character, Scotty, is Scottish. What's your favourite night cap? And whom would you share it with?

Sparkling water, I don't drink. Probably my wife.

Not a fellow actor? Have you met everyone in Hollywood that you've wanted to meet, as a fan?

I don't think you could ever meet everybody. L.A. is like one of those safari parks where you can walk amongst the animals. You see like, Jeff Goldblum in the supermarket.

No ganja on the
USS Enterprise

Into Darkness. Sulu a far cry from pothead Harold, of Harold & Kumar fame

scene@metronews.ca

John Cho is best known for playing Harold Lee, the investment banker and pothead from the Harold & Kumar movies. Not exactly the kind of guy you want behind the wheel, but in Star Trek Into Darkness he is Sulu, the senior helmsman of the USS Enterprise.

Harold and Sulu are as different as the fans they attract. "They're more sober," says the actor of his Star Trek fans. "They call me John Cho. The Harold fans call me Harold."

"Star Trek fans have been wonderful. I've been blown away by the variety — there are fans all over the world. There are fans of many generations and they are thoughtful people. I was fearful of them. People worked me into a frenzy about how the fans might take a dislike to the things I did, but they've been very warm."

Interestingly, he didn't consider himself a Star Trek fan when he signed on to take over for George Takei in JJ Abrams' 2009 reboot of the series.

"When I was a kid I thought the original series looked goofy because of the velour and all that," he says. "But when I was doing research for the first one I went back and watched them and I realized I had seen them all. I didn't realize how much

I had consumed over the years and how much I liked it.

"I think what I liked about it as a kid is that it was overtly intellectual. They had a way of dealing with issues that didn't speak its name. They talked about racism and poverty or whatever, but they perfected these worlds; an almost sterile environment in which you could discuss an issue."

Playing Sulu has earned him some new, unexpected fans.

"I was at Griffith Park Observatory in L.A. with my family and we were going to see the big telescope and it was closed to the public, but there was an astronomer in there who (recognized me) and he said, 'Come on in. I became an astronomer because of Star Trek.'"

As for the future of the series, Cho says, "(I'm) part of something bigger than yourself and it is a special feeling."

"I have a checkered past. I'm known as a stoner," he says. "I'm a father now and I'd be happy to make more of these and have my kids watch them."

"I don't think about expectations. Everything I did in this work, everything we did, the focus was to try and reveal the novel... The novel wasn't set in a period called the 'Minimal Twenties.' It was called the 'Roaring Twenties.' So it had to roar."

Comedy/Drama

The Sapphires

Director. Wayne Blair

Stars. Chris O'Dowd, Deborah Mailman, Jessica Mauboy

At the height of the girl group craze of the late 1960s four Australian Aboriginal teens, tutored by piano player and manager Dave Lovelace (Chris O'Dowd), take a shot at fame. And try not to get shot at during their gigs singing for the troops in Vietnam. The Sapphires is at its best when it embraces its light and fluffy soul. Romances swirl, as do glittery costumes. It's a slight, but entertaining take, with great performances, on the effect of music to change people's lives. RICHARD CROUSE

Drama

Still Mine

Director. Michael McGowan

Stars. Genevieve Bujold and James Cromwell

Good movies about and for older audiences are the new black. Still Mine, shot in northern Ontario and New Brunswick, is one of the best. A woman in her 80's falls down the stairs, prompting her husband to build a safer home on their property with his own hands. Local planners and unsupportive children block him at every turn but his will is boundless. The meat of the story is the 61-year bond between the couple, made achingly real by two gifted veteran actors. ANNE BRODIE

Thriller

The Good Lie

Director. Shawn Linden

Stars. Thomas Dekker, Matt Craven

This bizarre thriller is essentially a 90-minute riff on the concept of lies meant to protect that end up hurting. In this case, that lie concerns Cullen Francis, who, after his mother's death, discovers that he was the product of a brutal rape. Oddly structured around a series of campfire horror stories, Winnipeg writer-director Shawn Linden does a good job of juggling different character perspectives without losing the narrative. But the film is plagued by jarring shifts in tone. IAN GORMELY

Goodbye Town, hello platinum single

Dave Haywood. After major successes on previous discs, the country ballad band is claiming to be less forced on Golden

If Lady Antebellum has yet to have another hit to match the spectacular success of its smouldering 2010 ballad Need You Now — a six-times-platinum single that elicited five Grammy Awards, including song and record of the year — it hasn't necessarily been for lack of trying.

To hear Haywood tell it, Lady Antebellum has never been less forced than on their new album, Golden, out today, after Need You Now and 2011's Grammy-winning Own the Night explored sweeping, meticulously orchestrated country ballads.

This is the first Lady Antebellum record that doesn't feature orchestral strings. Why did you make that choice?

We've kind of done some more serious songs on the last few records and always done strings and these big arrangements, big overdubs. And yeah, this one we said, "You know what? Let's get in, play these dang songs, and get out." We really just didn't spend much time adding a bunch of stuff. It's not like we're in there adding like thousands of guitars all over and adding all these extra things. So for us it's all about the songs — finding a great song and finding a great arrangement that fits that song.

Goodbye Town is one of the more emotional songs on the record. What's it about? Growing up in a small town,

An escape plan

"Growing up in a small town, sometimes you're kind of stuck in that town. And it's like, man, what am I going to do to get out of here?"

Dave Haywood
Talking about the song Goodbye Town sometimes you're kind of stuck in that town. And it's like, man, what am I going to do to get out of here? Whether or not you had a relationship there, places you go remind you of somebody and it's like: I gotta just get the heck out of this place. I think that was something we all reached down and felt like we've experienced. Musically I think it really conveys that. There's this kind of energy throughout the song where it's just, man, I want to get the hell out of here. I think that was one of our favourites to include on the record.

The band's profile has obviously grown a lot over the years. How have you handled that evolution as a group?

It's definitely been a whirlwind. When we started, it all happened organically. We started off just writing together because we loved writing music and we still do to this day. I think a lot of people from the outside looking in say: "Didn't y'all just get put together and you got thrown out there, and didn't the record label pick all these songs?" That's really not the case here at all. We wrote all these songs and we said, let's try writing them for fun, let's just get a crazy name and do this for fun and then we'll go back to our other day jobs. It'll be a side project. Having that mentality from day one, I feel we've always kept and tried to preserve how authentic we began, and we don't want to lose sight of that.

Shakira's hips, post pregnancy, don't lie

The Voice. Colombian singer dishes on her new baby boy, getting back into shape and life with her co-hosts on the set of The Voice

Colombian superstar Shakira is learning how to balance her demanding work schedule with being a new mom one day at a time.

"It's part of motherhood, you know," she said of juggling her personal and professional life. "You got to figure it out as you go."

The 36-year-old singer and her soccer star boyfriend Gerard Pique welcomed their first child, Milan Pique Mebarak, on Jan. 22.

"He's great. He's so mel-low, but he's very alert too," she said in an interview Wednesday night at House of Blues in West Hollywood, Calif.

the NBC singing competition's top 12 finalists. The Voice host Carson Daly said baby Milan has been a welcome addition to the kid-friendly set, which features regular visits from Daly's young brood.

"With Milan it's a full-blown nursery!" Daly said of Shakira's baby-proofed double-wide trailer. "It's just like Shakira's door opens and It's a Small World starts playing. It's built for Milan. And it's really special and it's cool. We're like a little family."

But according to Shakira, it's not the children who cause the most trouble.

"It's like a kindergarten because these guys are already babies. They're babies!" she joked of her fellow coaches.

When it comes to getting those famous hips back into pre-baby shape, Shakira said she's still working on it.

"I still have a long way to go. I still have a few pounds over to lose," she said. "I look decent."

Age of Maxim's top sexiest women is a tad off-putting Maxim's Hot 100 list, which is a compilation of the world's sexiest women, is out. Here's the top five with their ages included. Miley Cyrus, 20, takes top honours, while Selena Gomez, 20 is second, followed by Rihanna, 25, Mila Kunis, 29, and Jennifer Lawrence, 22. The average age of these hot "women" is 23; the top two cannot legally be hit on in a bar. This makes you feel a little dirty, no?

Fall Out Boy's Wentz opens up about his drug addiction

THE WORD

Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

The 33-year-old bassist for Fall Out Boy (and the ex of one Ashlee Simpson) opens up in a new issue of Rolling Stone about how he sunk into a pill addiction after Fall Out Boy went on hiatus in 2009.

The rocker says he abused Xanax and Klonopin, which are primarily used to treat anxiety. "I was probably physically and mentally addicted," Wentz reveals. "It started from insomnia and anxiety from flying, then it spiralled.

He continues, "I felt like a loser already. I'd basically gone from being the guy in Fall Out Boy to being the guy, who, like, hangs out all day. I didn't see how I'd ever come out on the other side."

Things only got worse when Wentz split from Simpson. "I was scared of everything. I thought there were always people listening to me," he says. "Like, I had my house searched for bugs. It was crazy." Wentz says he is clean now, thanks to his son Bronx, 4, and extensive work with a therapist.

David Bowie

Church leaders not impressed with Bowie's bar-fly version of Christ Church leaders have reacted angrily to the release of a video to accompany David Bowie's latest single, The Next Day, in which he poses as Jesus in a bar. Lord Carey, the former Archbishop of Canterbury — the global head of the Anglican church — said the video was "juvenile" and urged Christians to "rise above it." But he also couldn't resist having a dig: "I doubt that Bowie would have the courage to use Islamic imagery — I very much doubt it." The video contains a sequence of Bowie in a bar in robes, striking a Christ-like pose. Gary Oldman and Marion Cotillard are also featured. Oldman is dressed as a priest, while Cotillard is in her underwear, with blood spurting from two wounds in her hands.

Cocktails made easy

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell

liquidassets@eastlink.ca

It's never too early to get your ice cubes in a row when it comes to summertime cocktails. Though popping the cork on a bottle of wine or twisting-off the cap of a chilled beer may be easier, no drink makes your back deck feel more like the Caribbean than a well-made mixed drink.

While some are complicated, most cocktails are a lot easier to make than you might think. Warm weather favourites like the Bloody Caesar (invented in Canada), the Margarita and the Cosmopolitan are no-brainers.

I love to get my Mojito on this time of year. The Cuban classic, which combines white rum, sugar, lime juice, sparkling water, mint leaves and a bit of muddling, is one of the most refreshing drinks in the mixology handbook.

Bacardi — Cuba's hometown hero — is the standard white rum of choice for a Mojito. I kneel to liquid tradition, but find the new wave of white spiced rums make an even better impression in the glass.

Captain Morgan Silver Spiced Rum ($24.49 to $29.99) mixes white spices, vanilla and a subtle sweetness that works wonders with the Mojito's minty personality. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Scrambled eggs made with velvety brie cheese and savoury smoked salmon is a real treat for a Mother's Day breakfast.

I have given a choice of using natural liquid egg substitutes instead of using three eggs per person, which have excess fat and cholesterol.

1. In large skillet sprayed with vegetable oil, add egg substitute or eggs and milk.

2. On a medium heat continue to scramble just until eggs are almost set. Do not overcook.

3. Serve the scrambled eggs with smoked salmon and brie cheese over top and sprinkle with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Ingredients

Prep time: 5 minutes
Cook time: 5 minutes

- 1 1/2 cup egg substitutes or 6 large eggs
- 1/4 cup lower fat milk
- 1/4 cup diced smoked salmon
- 1 1/2 oz diced brie cheese
- Pinch of salt and pepper

Bottoms up!

Looking for something exciting to kick off your weekend? Club 200 is hosting the Winnipeg Pride Festival's Queer Beer Launch Party on Friday. This fundraiser is the final run-up before the Pride Festival, which beings on May 24. The evening boasts "Big Hair, Big Games, and Big Fun" — which includes a giant game of Twister and cool prizes. Admission is $5, and all proceeds are going to the festival. For more information check out pridewinnipeg.com.

Beat the litterbugs

Seems like the litterbugs were out in full force this winter and wreaking havoc on some of our creeks. The good news is you can do your part to help with the mess. This Saturday is the Creek Cleanup at Omands, Truro and Sturgeon creeks. Get your rubber boots, gloves and hip waders ready to spend an afternoon revitalizing Winnipeg so everyone can enjoy the summer. There are three meet up points. Find the groups on Facebook for more info.

Spring Cleaning

Keeping with the topic of spring cleaning, MLA for the riding, Andrew Swan, is hosting the Minto Spring Cleanup. If you want to help clean up the community, but the kids are a little too young for the Creek Cleanup, consider lending a hand in the West End. All you need to do is show up at the Sargent Park Community Centre, 1111 Wall St, at noon and you will be given garbage bags and instructions. There will be snacks and drinks for all volunteers.

You can go your own way

Fleetwood Mac is live this Sunday, bringing the band's 2013 World Tour to the MTS Centre. This may already be Second Hand News to you, but if you missed the concert announcement, this is your reminder not to miss this show. The iconic band has been around since the late '60s (with a two-year hiatus in the '90s), so you know the group has a lot of experience and material for a rocking show. Things kick off at 8 p.m. Tickets are $61.25 to $198.50 at Ticketmaster.

Jazz up Mother's Day this year

Get into the swing of things at the Winnipeg Art Gallery this Sunday. Since it's Mother's Day, treat mom to a jazzy experience by taking her to the King of Swing concert with clarinetist Ken Peplowski. You will be tapping your toes to the 30-year clarinet veteran, who mirrors the tone and virtuosity of jazz legend Benny Goodman. Visit winnipegjazzorchestra.com.

Go to collage at the Graffiti Art Gallery

The Graffiti Art Gallery presents All of the Above, showcasing the works of New York-based collage artist, Greg Lamarche. An opening reception takes place Thursday at 7 p.m. at 109 Higgins Ave. Aside from Lamarche's graffiti-inspired collage art, there will be live music from the Krazy Kings. Admission is free with the donation of a non-perishable food item.

SLEEK & SEXY

Humidity can be measured two ways — relatively or by dew point — but who needs percentages when frizzy hair is the best dead giveaway?

This season's most delectable hair trends, however, are seemingly without regard for humidity. Styles spotted on the runways rarely swayed from sleek, but how strands were tied ranged from tight knots (at Ralph Lauren and Givenchy) to simple braids (at Jason Wu and Marchesa) and low-slung ponytails (at Michael Kors and Jil Sander). The common theme among them was simplicity, with not a complicated up-do in sight. Therefore, replicating this season's knotty trends should be a cinch — it's beating the humidity and fighting off frizz that will take some technique.

Using a wax to build hair's defence against frizz before styling can work. Waxes both seal moisture in and prevent excess water from entering the hair cuticle, which is what ultimately causes strands to puff up and kink, no matter the season.

Hair waxes are also known as pomade, styling crème, paste and whip. The degree of thickness depends on the percentage of other ingredients added versus a base wax, like beeswax. Generally speaking, the finer your hair, the more viscous (watery) your pomade or wax should be. If you have thick, curly hair, a heavier wax would work best to hold your sleek top-knot in place all day. If you have fine, straight hair, pick a product more closely resembling a whip.

YOUR HAIR CARE MENU

APPETIZER, MAIN AND DESSERT FOR YOUR DAMAGED LOCKS

Popular hair care ingredients read like a meal and deliver on nourishment, too. Fixes like argan oil, caffeine, avocado and coconut have stepped up the hair repair game so no damage goes unfed and genuine health gets a fill-up.

By feeding your hair a hefty meal of antioxidizing oils, strengthening proteins, and conditioning butters, you can reinforce strength so the threat of breakage won't spoil your appetite for spending summer days outdoors and lounging around your neighbour's saltwater pool.

Here is a closer look at the menu:

ANTIOXIDANT SALAD (PROTECTION)

Vitamins A, B, C, E and K can be found in numerous hair products. They offer dull and depleted hair protection against oxidative damage (when environmental factors cause your hair to lose protective electrons to free radicals) and bring back plenty of healthy shine. You can find these vitamins by searching product labels for ingredients like apricot oil, pomegranate oil, argan oil, coconut oil, beta carotene, phytochemicals and grapeseed extract. Nourishing to all types of hair.

PROTEIN MAIN (STRENGTH)

Each strand of hair is comprised of three layers of proteins piled atop one another. When the second layer, the cuticle, is damaged, your hair becomes officially dry and damaged.

A protein-rich meal aids in smoothing the proteins into place and building elasticity so strands won't break from brittleness, and makes it easier for them to hold onto moisture.

Protein-rich products range from shampoos to leave-in hair treatments and show up as keratin, collagen, flaxseed and soy-based additives, for example. Fatty oils can weigh fine hair down (therefore best to use overnight) but are generally well absorbed by coarser textures.

CONDITIONING DESSERT (MOISTURE)

Conditioner does for your hair what something sweet after dinner does for our craving — satisfies. Look for shea, jojoba, mango and coconut butters if you prefer natural ingredients to fight frizz, and if your hair can handle the weight, or glycerin and silicone complexes for smoothness and shine on finer textures. All types of hair will mellow out after a cool and creamy conditioner.

50 SHADES OF WHITE

QUICK-FIX TEETH WHITENING KITS ARE EASY TO USE

At-home teeth whitening kits are a fraction of the cost of what you would pay to see your dentist. Products are easy and safe to use so you don't have to give up on your favourite vices.

The effective agent in most whitening products is hydrogen peroxide (H₂O₂). It is also likely the most popular bathroom cabinet essential (you would recognize the brown bottle with white writing, right?) because it's simply a combination of water and oxygen, and extremely affordable.

Hydrogen peroxide is one of the best germicidal agents for a household full of kids — when you used to fall off your bike and scrape your knee, your mom likely doused the bandage in H₂O₂ before sending you back outside, but these days you should consider hydrogen peroxide your ticket to whiter teeth.

Choose a teeth-whitening product with controlled amounts of hydrogen peroxide on the label. Take your pick of kits, toothpaste and mouthwash — they all have the right amount of hydrogen peroxide to whiten your teeth safely at home.

The strongest whitening kits on store shelves have 14 per cent hydrogen peroxide. Whitening mouthwashes are often made effective by a combination of hydrogen peroxide and sodium hexameta-phosphate. An alternative to H₂O₂ is carbamide peroxide, also found in whitening products, which is slower to oxidize and roughly one-third the strength of hydrogen peroxide. It may be the better option for whitening highly sensitive teeth.

As for maintaining your newly whitened teeth, think more so about how acidic your food is than its inherent colour. Salt and vinegar chips for example, though extremely delicious, are highly acidic and may contribute to the erosion of tooth enamel. Same goes for orange juice, citrus fruit and white wine, which is actually more likely than red wine to stain your teeth because it's more acidic. Also, drink water after your morning espresso to rinse away the lingering crema, and keep a spare toothbrush in your bag for good measure.

— Rebecca Perrin

PAYING LIP SERVICE

Among the must-have lip shades this season are bouquets of both crimson red and barely-there nudes so subtle they nearly conceal your mouth. This spring, opposites attract equally.

Flesh tone lips flatter an expressively smoked eye (try this season's vivid palette of violet, indigo blue or emerald green) and also appear appropriately restrained against a bronzed complexion. Jennifer Lawrence is obviously a fan (she wears nudes often and very well) and Beyoncé always manages to make a bare lip look super fierce.

Choosing the right shade of nude is essential since it will set you up for appearing Brigitte Bardot-ish rather than passing on to the next life. Your teeth will look white rather than three shades deeper. Generally, three tones of nude lipsticks exist: Ones with apricot undertones; those with a pink tint; and true, honest beiges. Try the first two and avoid the third since that's how lips can look mistakenly chalky, like you have eaten a powdery doughnut and forgotten to tissue off.

As for red, the hottest swatches are tangerine and glossy (the ones created for Moschino by Tom Pecheux looked like freshly peeled citrus fruit) and crimson and matte. Choosing a red lipstick is truly a personal adventure to embark upon. The shade's vibrancy is so powerful, and red carries so many cultural and emotional connotations that you should try on shade after shade until you find one that makes you feel fiery.

Absolutely skip the lip liner with nude shades (you may look like a mannequin if you don't), but feel free to employ one with deep crimson lipstick. A perfectly precise line can add to the allure of red lips, like the ones created by Pat McGrath at Prada. She applied layer after layer of lipstick, blotting in between, to make sure the finished texture was opaque and deliciously rich. — Rebecca Perrin

Fully invested in turning it around

CFL. With new stadium and no injuries yet, Bombers look to leave behind lacklustre 2012

It's almost the dawn of a new CFL season, and once again the Winnipeg Blue Bombers are looking on the bright side after a pretty gloomy 2012.

For one thing, they finally have a field to play on that won't draw jeers, a new one that was supposed to open last year.

"It's something that the club, the city and the CFL should be very proud of," general manager Joe Mack said Thursday of Investors Group Field.

The team even scheduled its first four games on the road in 2012 to accommodate a promised late opening, but the pain brought no gain as construction delays ate up all hope.

After a snowy spring, Investors may be short a little landscaping, but Bombers president Garth Buchko said it would definitely be ready June 12 for the first exhibition game.

"Everything from a fan perspective will be virtually 100 per cent complete," he said, adding that they are nearing a new season-ticket record of 24,000.

Quarterback Buck Pierce said the players are also blessed with up-to-date training facilities and other perks at the 33,500-seat stadium, located on the grounds of the University of Manitoba.

"At the old place we maybe had one fridge, a microwave and a coffee pot that worked half the time," he said.

"Here we have everything that we need."

Coach Tim Burke said except for a couple of holes on defence, the team is also in much better shape than it was for much of last season, particularly on offence.

The Bombers stumbled out of the gate, finished a disappointing 6-12 and missed the playoffs, after making a Grey Cup appearance in 2011. It cost coach Paul LaPolice his job mid-season.

Offensive co-ordinator Gary Crowton now has a year of CFL football under his belt and Burke says that should lead to more production.

"I think we're in much better shape as a team than where we were when I took over as interim coach," said Burke.

During the off-season, the Bombers lost defensive end Jason Vega to the NFL and linebacker Marcellus Bowman to the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, who weren't put off by his knee surgery.

"Other than that, I feel pretty good defensively as far as the guys coming back," said Burke.

He feels Cauchy Muamba is an upgrade at free safety and can't say enough good things about his brother, linebacker Henoc Muamba.

Mack added that he would be saying a rosary every day to try and keep the team healthy.

"I think if we can stay healthy we have a chance to be pretty competitive."

Bombers have backup plans

Injuries played a major factor in the Blue Bombers' woes in 2012, not the least the concussion and other ailments that sidelined Buck Pierce.

Pierce is back as starting QB, with returning backup Justin Goltz, pictured, and two new understudies, Max Hall and Chase Clement.

The Bombers did bring in another punter Thursday, Australian Tim Hutchison, making it four as camp nears, including Bombers veteran Mike Renaud.

NHL playoffs

Vokoun move pays off for Pens

Tomas Vokoun stopped 31 shots in his first playoff start in six years and the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the New York Islanders 4-0 on Thursday night in Game 5 of their first-round playoff series.

Sidney Crosby, Tyler Kennedy and Douglas Murray scored during a seven-minute stretch in the second period.

The Penguins lead the series 3-2. Game 6 is Saturday in New York.

Change ahead for swept Canucks, GM Gillis says

Vancouver Canucks general manager Mike Gillis says it's time to reset the organization.

He held a season-ending media availability Thursday after the Canucks were swept by the San Jose Sharks in their Western Conference quarter-final.

Gillis says he plans to review every element of the organization — including the performance of head coach Alain Vigneault — before any decisions are made. THE CANADIAN PRESS

NHL playoffs. Injuries cripple Canadiens as Senators streak through to Round 2

The Ottawa Senators are moving on to the second round of the NHL playoffs.

Craig Anderson made 33 saves and Cory Conacher scored twice on a shaky Peter Budaj as the Senators downed the Montreal Canadiens 6-1 on Thursday night.

Ottawa won the best-of-seven Eastern Conference quarter-final 4-1 and will move on to the second round for the first time since 2007, when they reached the Stanley Cup final only to fall to the Anaheim Ducks.

The victory gives Ottawa time to rest up and heal bruises before the conference semi-finals begin next week.

Zack Smith, Kyle Turris, Daniel Alfredsson and Erik Condra also scored for Ottawa, who were underdogs as the seventh seed in the East but who were bolstered down the stretch by the return of top players like defencemen Erik Karlsson and Jared Cowen.

The Habs on the other hand had five players injured in the series, including Carey Price and forwards Brian Gionta, Lars Eller, Brandon Prust and Ryan White.

P.K. Subban scored for injury-stricken Montreal, which failed to solve Anderson. They scored only nine goals in the series, while their own spotty goaltending allowed 20.

Budaj made 23 saves.

Nationals hang on to sweep the Tigers

Tamed Tigers.

Detroit won nine of their last 10 games before getting swept by the Nationals

Ryan Mattheus, Drew Storen and Rafael Soriano combined for shutout relief after Dan Haren nearly squandered a four-run lead, and the Washington Nationals beat the Detroit Tigers 5-4 Thursday to complete a two-game sweep of the AL champions.

Adam LaRoche singled in the first and second innings for his first consecutive multi-hit games this season, helping the Nationals to their first four-game winning streak of the year. Ryan Zimmerman, in a 2-for-14 slide coming in, had three hits.

Bryce Harper hit an RBI groundout in the first following Denard Span's leadoff double, and Harper came home from second when LaRoche singled and centre-fielder Austin Jackson let the ball get past him for an error. Ian Desmond followed with a run-scoring single for a 3-1 lead.

Tigers pitcher Doug Fister

(4-1) had an RBI single in the second off Haren (4-3), but the Nationals made it 5-1 in the bottom half on consecutive run-scoring singles by Zimmerman and LaRoche.

Haren allowed four runs and nine hits in six innings, giving up a three-run homer in the sixth to Matt Tuiasosopo. That was the Tigers' first home run by a pinch hitter since Ryan Rayburn at the Chicago White Sox on Sept. 14, 2011. Washington's three relievers had identical lines, each giving up a hit and striking out a batter in an inning. Soriano converted his 12th save in 13 chances, retiring Prince Fielder on a game-ending flyout to the centre-field warning track with a man on.

Detroit had entered with nine wins in 10 games only to get swept for the first time since losing three games at the Los Angeles Angels from April 19-21. Omar Infante had three hits for the Tigers.

MLB

League official acknowledges wrong call

Major League Baseball said the umpires were wrong.

The Athletics knew that all along.

"We saw what we saw last night," Oakland manager Bob Melvin said.

One day after umpire Angel Hernandez and his crew failed to reverse an obvious game-tying home run by A's infielder Adam Rosales in the ninth inning following a video review, MLB executive vice-president Joe Torre said an "improper call" was made in Wednesday's game between the Indians and Athletics.

However, despite pointing out the critical error, Torre said the "judgment" call will stand. The Indians won 4-3, and went on to sweep the four-game series with a 9-2 victory over the A's on Thursday.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

The planets suggest you will find yourself at odds with the accepted way of doing things today. Even if it causes you financial hardship, you will fight on the side of what you believe is right. Good for you.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Today's solar eclipse in your birth sign means you can't put off what needs to be done. What you start over the next 24 hours will pay dividends for the next 24 months!

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You will need to make some difficult decisions today. The important thing is that once you have decided on a certain course of action, you see it through to the end.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

There are so many opportunities in your life right now that you may find it hard to decide what to do first. But decide you must, and quickly. The last thing you need now is to be trapped by indecision.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Today's solar eclipse means a new start in your career or vocation is not just possible but desirable too. If your present position does not satisfy you, now is the time for a change.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Your life will change for the better over the next few days. What matters even more though is that your attitude is changing: You no longer attach so much importance to things of a material nature. Good.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Most things change slowly but occasionally you get the chance to change things quickly and today's eclipse makes this the ideal time to make a quantum leap. Change your outlook and your world.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

If a relationship has been going through a tough time of late then today's eclipse will bring matters to a head. A new start is possible but you both have got to want it.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Cosmic activity in the work and wellbeing area of your chart suggests you are thinking of changing your daily routine, maybe in quite dramatic ways. And why not? Change is good.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

You should be having the time of your life right now and if that is not the case, it can only be because you are letting the past hold you back. Today's eclipse urges you to be bold.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Do not, repeat not, interfere in other people's private affairs today — and don't let other people interfere in your private matters either. You may think you know best, and maybe you do, but it won't change a thing.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Life has been a bit predictable of late but as from today things should get a lot more interesting. If you have not yet made any social plans for the next few days then make them now. SALLY BROMPTON
